

CANTON IS IN MOURNING; SORROW FOR WM. M'KINLEY

The Funeral Train with the Remains of the Dead Statesman, Greeted by Great Crowds in His Beloved Home City Today.

TRAPPINGS OF WOE SEEN ON ALL SIDES

Final Ceremonies in Committing the Remains to Their Last Resting Place--The Services Tomorrow--Throngs to See the Funeral Train Along the Route.

Canton, Sept. 18.—Canton is mourning over the home-coming of William McKinley. In other days she has welcomed him with cheers, with waving banners and triumphal marches. Today she receives him in silence, with streets hung with solemn black and with the wailing notes of dirges. At sunrise Canton was shrouded in black, and so she will remain until the body of the best loved son has been committed to the vault in Westlawn cemetery.

At 10 o'clock this morning the city was ready to receive the train with its precious burden from Washington. When the train pulled in the town which witnessed his early struggles and gloried in his first success, in which he was married and which he has always called home, the body of the martyred president is resting today. The special train which bore it on its last journey arrived at eleven fifty-eight o'clock.

All night long the crowds awaited the coming of the train, and when it pulled up at the depot the throng that greeted its dead townsman was a great one. The tracks have been strewn with wild flowers for nearly half a mile out and only the tracks were visible for his blossoms. School children lined the track and held great baskets of flowers which they threw upon the platforms and through the windows of the funeral coach.

Thousands in line. Slowly the coffin bearers carried the casket through the line of admirals, generals, and honorary pallbearers selected from the late president's warmest Canton friends and placed in the hearse.

The procession then started for the court house where the body was placed on the catafalque to be reviewed.

Pathetic scenes attended the ride from the depot to the court house.

Remains to Lie in State. The train upon its arrival was met by members of the executive committee, hundreds of personal friends of President McKinley, and by the following honorary pallbearers, selected by the family: John G. Dueber, Geo. B. Froese, B. A. Cassidy, William R. Day, Joseph Blechle, Henry M. Hartor, William A. Lynch and Thomas E. McCarty.

The Grand Army band which has played at every convention at which President McKinley was nominated for any office, headed the escort, which was Troup A of Cleveland. The remains were taken to the court house, where they will lie in state until 9 o'clock p. m. They will then be borne to the McKinley house, under the escort of the Canton Post, G. A. R., composed almost entirely of President McKinley's old regiment, the Twenty-third Ohio.

Last Funeral Rites. Tomorrow the church services will be simple—a discourse by the Rev. C. E. Manchester of the First M. E. church, a prayer by Rev. C. B. Milligan of the Presbyterian church, a scripture reading and the singing of "Lead, Kindly Light," by a quartet.

At the conclusion of the services the slow march to the cemetery will be taken up. Before the casket is placed in the receiving vault it will be rested upon supports standing upon the stone walk leading to the vault for the purpose of allowing those who have taken part in the parade, and who have been prevented from their duties from being present in the court house, to have an opportunity to view the remains.

When finally placed inside the vault a guard will be thrown around it, and day and night until its final resting place is prepared it will be surrounded by armed men.

FEARS FOR MRS. M'KINLEY

A Persistent Rumor is Afloat That Her Mind is Wandering

Pittsburg, Sept. 18.—The McKinley funeral train arrived here at nine fifteen o'clock. An immense throng was at the depot anxious to get a glimpse of the casket. Mrs. McKinley is struggling to bear up and Dr. Rixey says that she will succeed but those who see the slender, trembling figure know that there will be a collapse and that not far away. A persistent rumor is afloat that her mind is wandering. That she does not seem to recall that the president is dead and asks when the Major will return. Cortelyou and Rixey deny these rumors. Great crowds met the train at every stopping place.

Must Have Made Angels Weep. At Pitcairn station Mrs. McKinley peered out of a window and saw a scene which must have made angels weep. Thousands of people with heads bared, stood silently and reverently by the train side when suddenly the band struck up "Nearer My God to Thee," and the hosts joined in singing the hymn. Tears streamed down the face of the widow as she listened for a moment to the strain of her husband's favorite hymn. Then a friend gently drew her away from the sight of the multitude.

Leon Czolgosz in Court. Charged With Murdering the President—Maintains Sullen Silence.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Leon Czolgosz was arraigned for the murder of President McKinley. The assassin was brought before Judge Emery and a motion was made to remove the case to the criminal term of the Supreme court for trial.

Czolgosz, when he appeared for the first time in public since his imprisonment, was unkempt, dirty and unshaven, his hair looking as if it had been untouched by comb or brush since the day he shot down his victim. His face lacked expression, but he did not seem to be frightened. His demeanor was rather one of half-stupidity, half-defiance.

When questioned by the district attorney and the court Czolgosz sullenly refused to answer. He would not even face his accuser, but either looked at the floor or stared around the room with an air of stupid indifference, feigned or real.

After Czolgosz had refused to answer any question, Judge Emery named the counsel to defend him, both attorneys being recommended by the Erie county bar.

Orin Edson Crooker, well-known in Janesville has accepted and taken charge of the Universalist church at Duxter, N. Y. He was educated in the state university and has spent much time here where he has many friends.

First business was the reception of the financial reports. Treasurer Jones' report showed the finances of the council in good condition, with a gain in payments of $1,250 over last year. The mission board's report showed $3,185.70 paid to the missionaries in the twelvemonth. The amount in the Episcopal residence fund is $499.81, an increase of $66.64 since the last council. In the same period $248.85 had been added to the aged and infirm clergy fund. Bishop Nicholson reported a balance of $119.57 in his contingent fund.

The condition of the diocesan endowment fund was shown by the report presented by the Rev. A. H. Barrington. The fund is $26,900, an increase of $6,000 during the year. William Rager of Janesville was nominated chancellor of the diocese.

THE EPISCOPAL DIOCESAN COUNCIL HAS ASKED FOR A NEW CHURCH TITLE

They Desire the Word Catholic--Annual Meeting of Clergy and Lay Representatives in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Sept. 18.—Unless appearances are deceptive, the Milwaukee Episcopal diocesan council, now in session at All Saints' cathedral, will memorialize the general convention of the church in San Francisco next month, to change the name of the church to the American Catholic church in the United States and discard the title, Protestant Episcopal church, which has been in use for a century or more. A memorial of this character was introduced yesterday and made a special order of business for the morning. The preliminary discussion developed no opposition.

The roll call at the afternoon session of the council showed forty-four clergymen and forty-two laymen present. Bishop Nicholson called the council together at 2:30. The

THREE CHILDREN OF A FARMER MURDERED AND BURNED TO DEATH

Parents Near Grantsburg, Wis., Return to Find House in Ashes and Their Offsprings Gashed to Death--Posse Hunting for Louis Murgaw.

Grantsburg, Wis., September 18.—Parties from the northern part of Burnett county have just arrived with the information that three children of the family of Mr. Bawley, living at Lang's Dam, on Loon Creek, were brutally murdered and burned to death. There are three children, a girl 16 years of age, a boy of 8 and another child of 4 years. Louis Murgaw, a half-breed, has been in love with the oldest girl but the parents have seriously objected to his coming to the house.

Bawley and his wife and Murgaw started cranberrying Sunday, and after going a mile Murgaw turned back and would go no farther. It is charged that he returned to the house, murdered the girl and the other children and fled. He was seen yesterday going toward Shell Lake.

The parents returned on Tuesday and found the house burned and the children gashed and bruised.

The neighbors throughout this region are up in arms at the cowardly crime, and would mob Murgaw on sight. The sheriff is out with a posse and every hiding place is being carefully searched. An inquest was held yesterday and it was found that the girl's throat had been cut and the other children's skulls had been crushed, and that all were then thrown into the flames. The bodies were charred masses, and their identification was barely possible.

The girl did not reciprocate the love of Murgaw and it is charged that after he left her parents he returned to the house and assaulted her, and then being maddened by her refusal and that of her parents, let his wrath loose and murdered her and the children. The place is in a lonely spot where neighbors are few and the burning of the house did not attract attention. The father and mother are nearly frenzied over the loss of their children and their home. If the murderer is caught lynch law will go into effect.

The girl has lived with her parents on the farm and although she has received the attentions of Murgaw she has not requited them. The search for the criminal will not be given up until every claw has been exhausted.

HEAVY RAINS HURT RIPENING CROPS

Cool Weather Has Retarded the Maturing of Corn--Tobacco Nearly All Secured

Washington, September 18.—The crop report issued today by the weather bureau says heavy rains have proved unfavorable to the central and western Gulf states, in portions of the Ohio Valley, Tennessee and the upper Mississippi valley, while crops have suffered from drought in the south Atlantic states. East of the Rock Mountains the temperature conditions have been favorable, except in the upper Missouri valley, where it has been too cool and frosts were of general occurrence. In some instances, damaging, in the plateau regions. General favorable conditions prevailed on the Pacific coast.

Cool, wet weather has retarded the maturing of corn in Nebraska and South Dakota, but in the central and eastern districts of the corn belt the crop is practically safe from frosts and cutting is well advanced.

The abundant rains of the last week have put the soil in excellent condition for plowing and this work has been rapidly pushed, although retarded by excessive moisture in some districts. Considerable seeding has been done, and early sown wheat is coming up nicely in Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma.

Wisconsin—Cool weather, with abundant rains during the week, corn practically all safe from frost; pastures much improved and promise plenty of feed; tobacco crop nearly all secured. In excellent condition; fall plowing well under way and soil in excellent condition; winter wheat and rye seeding begun.

BURGLAR LOOT A BADGER BANK

Strong Box Is Blown Open at Hammond, Wis., and $5,000 in Money Taken.

New Richmond, Wis., September 18.—Burglars entered the Bank of Hammond, at Hammond, this county, last night, blew open the safe and secured $5,000 in cash and several thousand dollars' worth of securities. Every cent of cash and some valuable papers were taken and there is no clue to the robbers. The robbers entered the building through the rear and dug a hole in the wall of the vault and then blew the safe open.

The bank officials are not ready to make a statement today.

PRESIDENT LOUBET MEETS THE CZAR

Two Great European Rulers Greeted in the Harbor of Dunkirk, France, This Morning.

Dunkirk, France, Sept. 18.—The Czar of Russia and President Loubet of France met on the royal yacht Standart in the harbor here this morning. Everyone in the city was abroad at daylight seeking vantage points on the docks and beach. When the Standart appeared fifteen warships in the harbor boomed a salute of 101 guns. Loubet was similarly honored after the greeting was over.

AWFUL ACCIDENT TO FRED O'DONNELL

Brakeman Falls Between a Train in Motion, and Had Both His Legs Cut Off.

Fred O'Donnell, a married man residing at 103 Gold street, a son of Mrs. Bridget O'Donnell, met with a terrible accident last night, that cut off both legs and may cost him his life.

O'Donnell is a brakeman in the employ of the Northwestern and left here yesterday on a special in charge of Conductor Thatcher. About eleven o'clock last night when just south of Fond du Lac, he went out on top of the cars to set some brakes. There was a carload of poles in the train and O'Donnell had to cross this car in the performance of his duties. A car load of poles is a bad thing to walk over especially at night and when the train is in motion. When near the end of the car he lost his footing and fell down between the car and the one following it, the wheels passing over his legs and crushing them so that amputation was necessary.

The accident was discovered by the train crew and the train stopped. The injured man was picked up and taken to Fond du Lac, where he was conveyed to the hospital. It was found necessary to amputate one leg above the ankle about four inches and the other at the foot.

His relatives in this city were at once notified of the accident and his wife and mother and two brothers left on the seven o'clock train for his bedside.

Mr. O'Donnell is a steady and industrious young man and has only been married a short time. His friends in this city hope that he will recover from the shock.

YOUNG BOYS OUT TO KILL CZOLGOSZ

Four Minnesota Lads Who Set Out to Avenge President's Death, Detained at Oregon, Wis.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 18.—Four boys ranging in age from 10 to 13 years of age, who have set out from Minnesota homes for Buffalo to seek Leon Czolgosz and avenge the president's death were taken in charge by officers at Oregon, today. They are now being held at the city hall awaiting an officer to take them home.

They are Glen and Howard Miller, Guy Harmer, and Morris Graham, all of Pine Island, Minn. They left home on Sunday afternoon, armed with a dirk and a revolver, for Buffalo.

They had money enough to carry them this far and after spending the day in wandering are ready to go home. Money has been telegraphed for their return.

LA FOLLETTE MUST REST

His Physician, However, Confident of His Final Recovery. Madison, Wis., September 18.—Governor La Follette's physician, Dr. Phil Fox, this morning issued the following statement regarding the governor's condition:

"About the last of June I was called to see Governor La Follette and found him suffering from an attack of stomach and liver trouble similar to the severe attacks he has had since his first severe illness with the 'grippe' in '91 or '92. We hoped to relieve him within a few weeks but instead he developed a marked catarrhal gastritis which has persistently continued to the present, and while in many respects there are improvements of his present condition, he is still unable to take sufficient food to enable him to exercise, and this makes rest from arduous work necessary. From my past experience with former attacks I feel confident of his final recovery."

Theodore W. Goldin was in Beaver Dam yesterday. He accompanied his son, Herbert, who has entered the Wayland academy in that city.

ALL BUSINESS CLOSED; MEMORIAL TO M'KINLEY

Citizens of Janesville Will Abandon Their Daily Pursuits to Observe, Tomorrow, the Day of the Late President's Funeral at Canton, Ohio.

MAGNIFICENT PARADE IN AFTERNOON

Public Services in the Opera House Follow the Parade--Religious Services in the Congregational Church in the Evening--Detail of the Arrangements.

Today the city indeed looks like the city of mourning which it has been at heart ever since the dreaded news that death had removed from his high position as president of this nation William McKinley, dashed over the wires. The national colors, shrouded in black, have been draped on the front of public buildings and business blocks while from the majority of store windows the kindly face of the deceased president looks out from folds of red, white and blue intertwined with black.

Handsomely Decorated Store. One of the most handsomely decorated stores of the city is Hall, Sayles & Field's. Heavy draperies of the four colors, which are seen together on every hand during these sad days are looped in graceful folds above the door and windows on the front of the buildings. In the display window a column of white stands out effectively against the background of an immense flag. The column, representative of a marble shaft, rests on purple velvet and black cloth and the top of it is shrouded with a black drapery. It is wound with a narrow band of red, white and blue and black and at the base is a gold framed photograph of our deceased president. The shaft bears the inscription "To Our Martyred President."

Many Residences Also. The decorations of mourning are not confined to the business part of the city, and many residences are handsomely decorated in evidence of the grief of the loyal people whose homes they are. The demand for large portraits has greatly exceeded the supply in this city and many people who desired to use pictures in their decorations have been unable to secure them.

Speakers of the Day

Hon. William G. Wheeler, Dean E. M. McGinnity, Rev. Robert C. Denison will be the speakers at the public memorial service which will be held by the people of Janesville as a tribute of respect and love for our departed president, tomorrow afternoon. Mr. Wheeler and Dean McGinnity will speak of Mr. McKinley's life and work in a general way and Rev. Denison will speak of his service to the nation as an upright Christian man.

The male quartet which is to furnish the vocal music for the occasion will include Dr. F. T. Richards, E. E. Van Pool, H. E. Cary and Archie Crawford.

These gentlemen who are to participate in the program were selected by the program committee at a meeting held yesterday afternoon at four o'clock. Dr. J. B. Whiting will be the presiding officer as was determined upon at the meeting of the citizens held in the morning. This committee at large practically selected the three speakers also as each of the gentlemen were suggested at the morning meeting. It was this general committee which insisted that Hon. W. G. Wheeler should be one of the speakers. Mr. Wheeler, who is U. S. District Attorney, expected to go to La Crosse today to be present at the opening of the United States court, which is set for tomorrow, but will of course be adjourned.

The members of the committee in which he extended this invitation was precisely the same as if he had just become president and was constructing a cabinet of his own de novo the only difference being that in such a case men asked to become his ministers would have a right to decline which they did not have in this instance. The president explained by saying that in his opinion it was the duty of the members of the McKinley cabinet to continue their work and serve out the terms to which they had been appointed by their dead chief.

The spirit of the dead president lives on in the administration and the policies of his successor. Today Secretary Hay signified his acceptance of the President's invitation. With this the chain was completed, all the others having informally accepted yesterday.

Within seventy-two hours of taking the oath of office President Roosevelt has thus achieved the remarkable feat of transferring the whole of the McKinley administration to himself.

CABINET WILL NOT BE CHANGED; WILL FOLLOW COURSE OF M'KINLEY

President Roosevelt Insists That M'Kinley's Policies Shall Be Carried Out--All Members To Remain.

Washington, September 18.—The highest and most significant tribute which it is possible to pay to the memory of the dead president has been offered by President Roosevelt. After the first full and formal cabinet meeting of the new administration which was held yesterday at the residence of Colonel Cowles, the president's brother-in-law, an official statement was given out that all members of the McKinley cabinet are to remain in the Roosevelt administration, not merely for the time being, but as if the appointments were the original choice of the new president. It is also officially announced that the new administration will carry out the policies of the McKinley administration.

The president said to the members of the cabinet not only that he wanted them all to remain at their posts, but that he wished each and every one to consider he was asked to remain permanently and to identify himself fully with the new administration. Mr. Roosevelt added that the spirit in which he extended this invitation was precisely the same as if he had just become president and was constructing a cabinet of his own de novo the only difference being that in such a case men asked to become his ministers would have a right to decline which they did not have in this instance. The president explained by saying that in his opinion it was the duty of the members of the McKinley cabinet to continue their work and serve out the terms to which they had been appointed by their dead chief.

The spirit of the dead president lives on in the administration and the policies of his successor. Today Secretary Hay signified his acceptance of the President's invitation. With this the chain was completed, all the others having informally accepted yesterday.

MILBURN HOME PLAIN STRUCTURE

RICHLY FURNISHED, BUT OLD ARCHITECTURE.

Janesville Boys Were Admitted to the Yard, But Not to the House—
Thousands of People Viewed the Scene a Quarter of a Mile Away—
Militia and Police Were Active.

falo police and United States Secret Service Detectives Ireland and Foster resulted last Thursday morning
in the granting of a pass that admitted the Gazette representative to the Milburn grounds where is located the palatial residence where President William McKinley died. Additional nerve also resulted. In another pass that granted J. G. DeLong the privilege to enter the grounds with a camera.

At 9 o'clock in the morning we made our way from the city to the Milburn house a distance of about two miles.

A quarter of a mile from the Milburn house all pedestrians and teams are stopped by the police who guard every street corner. Ropes are stretched across and unless one had a pass or resided inside the lines,
they were not allowed within. Surrounding the Milburn home on Deleware avenue, at a distance of 100 feet away, were stationed members of the United States Fourteenth Infantry, under the command of Major Mann.

Sentinels paced beaten paths day and night. In a vacant lot opposite where the tents occupied by the soldiers who numbered 100 strong. This company has just returned from China and they felt well proud of the honor of guarding the president. When once past the militia you were again obliged to make States Secret Service detectives who were stationed on the lawn.

At the front, near a side door were police who closely questioned every person who has been so fortunate as to get past the police militia and secret service men. Two hundred feet away the Postal and Western Union Telegraph companies had erected temporary wood stations.

A nearby spacious lot was occupied by newspaper men who had arrived all the way from New York to San Francisco. Several of the leading papers of the country as well as Harper and Collier's and several magazine publishers had their own photographers on the grounds. These newspaper men were each accompanied by reporters. As the carriages rolled up and some of notable men as Vice-President Roosevelt, Secretary of State John Hay,
Ex-Gov. Grosvenor, Secretary Wilson Secretary Root, Senator Hanna and others alighted they were immediately faced by at least a dozen of the newspaper camera fiends. Secretary George B. Cortelyou and Abner McKinley were also frequently photographed as they walked arm in arm along the concrete walk.

Drs. Rixey, Mann, Parks and Mc-Barney were frequently to be seen on the lawn.

Last Thursday morning the Italian colony of New York city sent a beautiful floral offering which after being photographed by the newspaper men was sent into the house. The Milburn residence is one of the oldest houses in Buffalo. It is built of brick and is two stories high.

It is plain on the out side but richly furnished within. A spacious porch in front is covered with vines around the corner from the Milburn house and less than 100 yards away resides Charles Moulton, a former well known leaf tobacco dealer, of Janesville.

The wounded president occupied a room in the north east corner of the Milburn house. It is the room usually occupied by Mr. Milburn's sons, George and Devereaux Milburn. The room is 15x16 and has high ceiling
which were in vogue forty years ago, when the place was built. Much of the furniture in the room had been removed to make room for the necessary table and appliances.

The two bed stands of the Milburn boys were also taken out to make room for the white iron bed stand on which the president died. This bed was so placed as to keep the president's eyes shaded from the window

NEW AND ATTRACTIVE DESIGN.

A stylish hat is just as important as a stylish gown, but thick glossy hair is more important than either. It does not cost as much now to have nice hair as it does to get a nice hat, for the hair and scalp have of late been the subject of scientific research and study in which all their little defects
and disorders have been found out and a remedy discovered to correct them. Danderline is the name of this discovery, and it never fails to make the hair grow abundantly, thick and beautiful without changing its natural color a particle. Now at Department. A Proclamation: "It is my melancholy and painful duty to announce to the people of Wisconsin that William McKinley, president of the United States, died at Buffalo, N. Y., this fourteenth day of September, from injuries inflicted by an assassin.

"The first appalling intelligence of the assault upon the president's life
was quickly followed by the cheering messages of hope, and finally by assurances of his speedy and complete recovery, which had barely settled in the public confidence when the nation is suddenly called to mourn his death. From the moment the fatal wounds were inflicted he bore his suffering with marvelous fortitude and patience and met the end with sublime courage and resignation.

"The life of William McKinley afforded its own best protection against murderous thoughts in other than utterly depraved minds. By it the highest ideals of citizenship were exemplified, and the most splendid possibilities of individual development and advancement under the government were given demonstration. His loyalty to public interests, his untiring zeal for the national welfare and reputation, his great achievements for the country wholly new in the experience of American statesmanship, his perfect balance and remarkable poise of character, his patriotic fidelity to liberty in every form; were allied
with blameless private life and attractive personal qualities which dis-
arm envy and destroy personal malice. Even the assassin found his wretched excuse for the crime
through disavowal of any cause of
character, his patriotic fidelity to
liberty in every form; were allied
with blameless private life and attractive personal qualities which dis-
arm envy and destroy personal mal-
ice. Even the assassin found his
wretched excuse for the crime
through disavowal of any cause of

"Enduring recognition of the public service of the late president will be conspicuous throughout the history of the generation in which he lived. In war and in peace, in humble station and in exalted rank —gifted with statesmanship of a high order, modest, patient, painstaking, patriotic; alike through victory
and defeat to death he maintained
his trust in the integrity and wisdom of the American people, and kept his faith in the justice of Almighty God.

"The shock to human sensibilities is too great and too recent to permit patient expression by American citizens in contemplation of this awful crime and its appalling results.
For the third time within the life of this generation the president of the republic has fallen by assassination; Lincoln at the end of the great civil war, Garfield in the midst of a bitter political strife, in each case preceded by conditions which in some measure fire the heart and the mind of the misguided and depraved being who struck the blow. But today we are solemnly admonished of more insidious dangers and called to new responsibilities. President McKinley, in the midst of peace, and general good will, the regard and affection of his countrymen bestowed upon him with a warmth and unani-mity unsurpassed since the days of Washington. In the very act of receiving manifestations of their enthusiastic devotion, is murdered by the dastardly instrument of unreasoning hostility to all government, which through him strikes at the most tolerant government on earth.
Preserving all the rights of free American citizens and a due regard for individual liberty, without malice or sensational declamation, but with well matured and considerate judgment, the statesmen of the country must meet the grave responsibility which this horrible crime lays upon them, and meet it promptly and firmly. The patriotism of the American people, their devotion to their government, their love for law and order, will not permit this country to be made the spawning bed
for political assassination.

"The excellent foresight and knowledge of the founders of the American republic are made most manifest in times like the present, when the safeguards which they prepared are found adequate to every emergency.
The assassin may shock the nation
but he cannot interrupt the proper functions of government. It is a cause for relief from apprehension that the incoming executive is in harmony with existing policies of administration, widely experienced in public affairs, and strong in confidence and esteem of the American people.

"In respect to the memory of the illustrious dead, I recommend that at such hour as may be set apart for the funeral services the people of the state assemble at their respective houses of public worship, or other convenient places, to join in memorial ceremonies fitting to the mournful occasion and to implore the mercy of God upon our official nation.
I further recommend that all public buildings within the state be suitably draped in mourning. As tokens of respect it is hereby directed that the capital be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days, that the flag be displayed at half mast from the capitol dome until the day of the funeral, and that all offices of the various departments of state government be closed on that day.

"In testimony whereof I have here-unto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state of Wisconsin
to be affixed. Done at the capitol, in the city of Madison, this 14th day of September, in the year of our Lord, 1901.

"WILLIAM H. FROELICH,
"Secretary of State."

MONTE CRISTO AT THE MYERS GRAND

The Backman Comedy company
presented a pretty war story, "Malne and Georgia" at the Myers Grand last evening, there being a fair sized audience present. The play was full of dramatic interest and strong situations and was presented in a pleasing manner, some members of the cast appearing at even better advantage than on the opening night. The specialties were good, the handsome singles of the illuminated songs showing up clearly. The company carries a line of illustrated songs which certainly excel those generally presented.

Tonight a perfect production of James O'Neill's famous play "Monte Cristo" will be given with the scenic effects and the version of the play exactly as given by the great actor who won his fame through his production. Mr. Walsh, the stage manager of the Backman Comedy company, was with Mr. O'Neill for several years. Owing to the fact that the theater will be closed tomorrow night
and a large audience is desired tonight
the management has decided to make tonight's performance a complimentary
one to the ladies under the usual rules. Every lady will be admitted free, provided she is accompanied by some one holding a paid ticket. Tickets must be purchased at the Peoples'
Drug store before six o'clock tonight.
On Saturday night three five dollar gold pieces will be given away to the persons holding the lucky numbers. Chances will be given out with all tickets sold for the balance of the week.

FLIGHT OF FUNERAL TRAIN

Despite Darkness Track Is Lined With People.

COME OUT TO HONOR DEAD.

Bells Toll Doefully in the Cities of Maryland and Pennsylvania as the Train Bearing the Remains of William McKinley Passes.

Baltimore, on Board the Funeral Train, Sept. 17.—Leaving Washington, the long winding train bearing the remains of the martyred president plunged out into the dark night and hurried like a black streak on its mournful journey. The curtains of the train were drawn as it pulled out of the station, save only for the observation car, in which the corpse lay guarded by a soldier and a sailor of the republic. That car alone was flooded with light. The countless thousands extending from the station for out into the suburbs of the national capital, waiting patiently in the drenching rain to pay their last farewell, thus had an opportunity to catch a last fleeting glimpse of the flag-covered casket as the train sped by. Several thousand people on the bridge over the eastern branch of the Potomac, straining for a last look, could be seen by the lights strung along the bridge as the train moved under it. As the little villages between Washington and Baltimore were passed the sound of tolling bells came faintly to the heavy-hearted mourners aboard. As the train came out of the long tunnel leading to Baltimore, before reaching Union station, thousands of silent forms could be seen, and the dismal tolling of the bells could be heard. A clear-drawn bugle call sounded a requiem. At the Union station crowds packed the station. Hundreds of people had gained access to the train shed, and they gazed sorrowfully at the casket while the locomotives were being shifted. The train, which had arrived at 9:34 p. m., pulled out for the west a few minutes later.

Track Lined With People.
York, Pa., on Board the Funeral Train, Sept. 17.—Passing out of the station at Baltimore the track was lined with people. Laborers and hand-somely dressed women stood side by side. Once or twice a quick flash from a photographer's flashlight exposed the whole train to view. At Parkton, just before the Maryland line was reached, a brief stop was made to attach an extra engine to help the heavy train up the grade at this point. Then for miles the train ran through the Dutch settlements of Pennsylvania. It was after 10 o'clock, but many Dunkards, the men uncovered, the women in their quaint bonnets, were at the track. Others of these simple folk could be seen in the open doorways of their lighted farm houses. The Dunkards usually go to bed early, but it was apparent that most of them had remained awake to get a last look at this mournful funeral train. The lighted death chamber in the rear car must have been an impressive spectacle; the bier in full view, the soldier with bayoneted gun at salute and the jack tar with drawn cutlass guarding the body. The twinkling of the light from that car was probably seen for miles through the darkness. York was reached at 11:30 p. m. Ten thousand people were at the station and along the track leading to it. The bells tolled doefully as the train passed.

In Pennsylvania's Capital.
Harrisburg, Pa., on Board the Funeral Train, Sept. 17.—The train slowed up but did not stop at York, where the entire population seemed to have waited far into the night to see it pass. The dolorous tolling of the bells could be heard distinctly by those on board. Soon after leaving York all had retired aboard the train and they sped along in darkness. It was raining steadily, but neither rain nor the lateness of the hour kept the mourning people from being at the track to pay their final tribute of honor and respect to their departed president. Harrisburg was not reached until the midnight hour, but the crowd was enormous and the scene impressive. The train stopped several minutes while crews and engines were changed and the multitude had an excellent opportunity to see the guarded casket, revealed as by a flood of day in the brilliantly lighted car.

Removed From the Capital.
Washington, D. C., Sept. 18.—The body of McKinley was borne to the train that left for Canton at 7:30 p. m. The same funeral cortege that formed the procession from the White House to the capitol, also made up the parade to the train.

SERVICES AT THE CAPITOL.
Solenn but Simple Methodist Ceremony in Honor of the Dead.

The funeral services at the capitol over the remains of President McKinley were simple and beautiful. They were of the form prescribed by the Methodist church, consisting of two hymns, a prayer, an address and a benediction. The people were slow in gathering. Among the first comers were the army officers. General Randolph, colonel of artillery and in charge of the military arrangements at the capitol, was earliest among these and soon afterward came General Gillespie, chief of engineers, and General Fitzhugh Lee. After awhile the number of officers became too great to distinguish between them, and the rotunda began to light up with the flashes of gold lace and gilt buttons, and flashing sword scabbards, scattered through the soberly dressed crowd of civilians. Before 10 o'clock the latter had assembled in such numbers as to fill the greater part of the seating space not reserved for the persons in the funeral procession who were to enter the rotunda.

Just at 10 o'clock Admiral Dewey made his appearance, accompanied by General Otis, General Davis and General Ruggles. He glanced over the scene within and then took up his station at the east entrance, where he was joined by the other members of the guard of honor. Mrs. Hobart, with her son, and Mrs. Russell A. Alger, escorted by Colonel Hecker, also entered during this time of waiting. The clergyman and the choir—the latter from the Metropolitan M. E. church, which Mr. McKinley attended, filed in and were seated at the head of the catafalque.

At twenty minutes to 11 o'clock the members of the cabinet entered and were seated at the south of the platform, and then, to the strains of "Nearer, My God, to Thee," by the Marine Band outside, the casket was borne into the rotunda. General Gillespie and Colonel Bingham led the way and everyone arose. The guard of honor on each side separated and the casket was placed gently upon the catafalque. Next came members of the family of the deceased, Abner McKinley leading. They were seated near the head of the casket. Mrs. McKinley was not present. Senator Hanna was with the family party. Thereupon the diplomatic corps entered, all in full court regalia, and was seated at the south. Former President Cleveland, with General Wilson, his escort, sat in the first row. Lastly came President Roosevelt, escorted by Captain Cowley and preceded by Mr. Cortelyou, secretary to the president. He was given a seat at the end of the row, occupied by the cabinet, just south of the casket. Mr. Roosevelt's face was set and he appeared to be restraining his emotions with difficulty. When the noise occasioned by seating the late comers had ceased a hush fell upon the people and the choir softly sang "Lead, Kindly Light," Bishop Newman's divine anthem, while everyone stood in reverence.

FIFTY HURT IN CRUSH.
Probable Fatal Results of Mad Pressure at Capitol.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Fifty persons were hurt, and it is feared that two or three were fatally injured in a great crush of people at the east front of the capitol during the McKinley funeral services in the afternoon. Seven of the victims were taken to Providence Hospital, but six of them, all women, merely fainted, and were taken home in a short time after receiving treatment. The most seriously injured person was George Thomas of 1632 T street northwest. He had two ribs broken and is in the care of physicians. Fourteen persons were taken to the Casualty Hospital, which is within a block of the capitol. Most of these were merely suffering from exhaustion, but several were badly hurt. Mrs. Boteler, aged 30 years, of 78 H street northwest, fainted from the crush, and when she fell she believed a horse trampled on her. She is seriously injured internally. Marie Wood of D street northwest, aged 21 years, was standing against the ropes, with heavy pressure from behind, when a colored man cut the ropes and caused the crowd to throw her to the ground and trample upon her. She has three ribs fractured. A district guard soldier named Tucket was taken to the hospital suffering from congestion of the lungs.

Teach Youth to Hate Anarchy.
Macon, Mo., Sept. 18.—County School Commissioner F. L. Thompson has issued a call for eighteen county institutes to be held on the 25th. The subjects provided are the "Sampson-Schley Controversy" and "The Best Method for the Suppression of Anarchy." These institutes will be attended by the members of the school board, teachers, scholars, and patrons of each district, and all will have the right to speak upon the topic assigned. Superintendent Thompson's idea is to inculcate abhorrence to the principle and teachings of anarchy in the minds of the youth.

Elgin, Ill., Sept. 18.—John J. Coakley, a patient from Cook county, jumped from the tower of the fire station at the insane hospital and was instantly killed. The fall was sixty feet.

Three Meals a Day.

How many years of her life does a woman spend over the hot cook stove getting those three meals a day? Back-aching, head throbbing, nerves twinging, it's all the same, there are three meals a day to be prepared. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cannot lighten woman's labor, but it can and does increase her strength. It cures those diseases of the womanly organs which undermine woman's vitality.

"I cannot praise Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription too highly as a tonic for tired, worn-out women who are afflicted with female weakness," writes Mrs. Ira W. Holmes, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. "It has helped me very much and a skillful physician once said to me in answer to my question as to its efficacy, 'I know of cases where it has really worked wonders.'"

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets do not react upon the system. They are a good thing to keep in the house. One 'Pellet' is a laxative, two a cathartic dose. The medicine for every woman.

ANOTHER PIONEER HAS PASSED AWAY

DEATH OF JAMES G. ALDEN, WHO CAME HERE IN 1848.

Died at the Home of His Daughter, Mrs. J. L. Ford, at 11 O'clock Last Evening—During a Business Career of Many Years, He Was Highly Honored and Respected.

Another pioneer of this city has passed beyond earth's sorrows and joys, its heartaches, its sufferings and its pleasures, its tears and its laughter and James G. Alden rests in that unawakened sleep which we call death. Everlastingly he is drawn around him last evening at 11 o'clock and his spirit went out into that mysterious unknown country which lies beyond the grave. His death occurred at his home of his daughter, Mrs. J. L. Ford, with whom he resided.

Deceased was eighty-two years of age and for fifty-five years he has been a resident of this city. In whose early history he was such a prominent figure. He was born in the town of Union, Lincoln county, Me., March 1, 1819 and was a direct descendant in the seventh generation of John and Priscilla Alden of Puritan fame. His lineage traces back from son to father through Ebenezer Alden and Patience Gilmore, Job Alden and Lucy Spooner, David Alden, and John Alden, John Alden and Hannah White, Joseph Alden, second son of the founder of the Alden family in this country, and Mary Simmons to John Alden and Priscilla Mullens.

James G. Alden received his early education at China academy pursuing his studies until he was sixteen years of age when he went to Bangor, Maine. After serving as a merchant's clerk for two years he engaged in business for himself. October 24, 1842, he was united in marriage with Miss Alivta C. Miller of Wisconsin. He engaged in merchandising in his native state until June, 1846, when he resolved to become one of the pioneers of the western country and he emigrated to Wisconsin and settled in this city, where in 1848, he established a grocery store. He was a very successful business man and in 1856 he sold out and purchased a farm in the town of Rock near neighbor to the parents of the late Francis Willard.

He engaged in farming for eleven years when he sold his farm and resumed the grocery business in this city. In 1855 he retired from active life. In politics Mr. Alden was a republican and during his life he served the city in several offices of public trust. He was deputy sheriff for several years, coroner for two years, supervisor of Rock county for ten years and assistant sergeant at arms of the Wisconsin assembly.

Mr. Alden was twice married. His first wife dying November 25, 1867. During his entire business career he was regarded as one of the influential and leading business men of the city. For the past twenty years he has lived in almost complete retirement keeping closer and closer to his home as one by one the friends of his earlier days and his business associates passed away in death. For several years he has resided with his daughter, Mrs. J. L. Ford, and prior to that time he made his home with his son, James Francis Alden, of this city. These two are the only children of the deceased.

Mr. Alden had been in feeble health for many years, suffering from a complication of diseases caused by old age. The immediate cause of his death was inflammation of the bladder and his final illness was severe and painful. He suffered terribly until within the last few days when the pain left him and he dropped into the eternal sleep quietly and peacefully.

Funeral services will be held from the home of J. L. Ford tomorrow morning and will be strictly private in accordance with the wishes of the deceased. The interment will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

DISGRACES THE CITY

Milwaukee Street Crossing is Dangerous—Serious Accident Likely to Happen at Any Time.

Miss Margaret Smith met with a mishap yesterday afternoon, while driving across Milwaukee street bridge that might have resulted much more seriously than it did. When in front of Bort, Bailey & Co's, store a section of the paving of the bridge, inside the car tracks gave away letting the right front leg of her horse through up to its body. Chief Hogan and Officer Brown happened to be standing near the spot and went to her assistance, and after much trouble released the horse from its dangerous position. Fortunately the horse was a gentle one, otherwise it might have struggled and broken a leg or wrecked the buggy. As it was no damage of any account was done outside of the breaking of one of the shafts.

Milwaukee street bridge is a disgrace to any city the size of Janesville. It has been patched and repaired with pieces of plank until the surface looks like a piece of patch work. The under planking is badly rotted, and it is no trouble to stick a rod through between the blocks in any part of the structure. It is only a question of time when a serious accident will result from the unsafe condition of this bridge and the city will be made to pay more than a new bridge would cost in damages, besides causing suffering for the victims of the city's negligence.

The council should attend to this matter at once and save trouble. The funeral of John Kendall was held at 10:30 Tuesday at Trinity church, Hanover. Rev. Logan of Footville, officiated. The interment was in Plymouth cemetery.

The offer was made several weeks ago, and the new hall will be built as a memorial to Mr. Layton's wife.

Origin of Little Fashions. The handkerchief, it is said, acted a very conspicuous part in the lady's dress expedients until the Empress Josephine, whose teeth were prominent, used it as a modifying influence in smiling. Alexander the Great had a slightly crooked neck, and it suddenly became a fashion at his court for everybody to wear the head one side. Dozens of fashions in garb and conduct have had like origins.

FEAR DAMAGE BY FROST TONIGHT

Quite a Lot of Tobacco Still Standing Out, Which is in Danger if Frost Comes.

Farmers report that the frost last night did very little if any damage in this vicinity. A number of them who have tobacco still standing in the field went through their crops this morning and could not find they had been hurt.

They are more alarmed about a frost tonight and they think that it would be severe enough to do lots of damage. The wind is still in the north east but the clouds that have come up this afternoon may keep the frost back. If it should be a bright, clear night a hard frost will result.

Tobacco growers are taking no chances on the weather and are getting their crops in as fast as possible. A large amount of tobacco is still in the fields and a large quantity of it will never be cut.

Those who have harvested their tobacco consider themselves lucky that the frost has held off as long as it has.

SCHOOL CHILDREN MOURN MCKINLEY

All the Books Were Laid Aside This Afternoon and Memorial Exercises Engaged In.

In every grade of every public school of the city school books were laid aside for an hour this afternoon and the thoughts of teachers and pupils were centered in the great life, the tragic close of which is the cause of a nation's sorrow. Necessarily, owing to the brief time for preparation, none of the memorial exercises were elaborate but they were entered into with an earnestness and depth of feeling which made the lessons which may be learned from this national tragedy valuable to the young students. In most instances the exercises consisted chiefly of a talk by the teacher.

At the high school the memorial hour was held at three o'clock and was conducted by Supt. H. C. Buell. President Theodore Roosevelt's proclamation, issued immediately after President McKinley's death, was read by Miss Belle MacLean; Governor La Follette's proclamation was read by Thomas Casey and Miss Lucy Bigelow read Mayor Richardson's proclamation.

A. E. Matheson made a brief address, taking for his theme "President McKinley's Christian manhood, his spotless private life and some of the lessons which the American people should learn from his life and his death."

TWO PROFESSORS HERE. Will Secure Students for the Beloit Business College.

Every young man or woman interested in a thorough and practical business education is invited to call on Prof. James P. Cranston or W. Homer Lee, of the Beloit Business College, who are at the Grand Hotel. These gentlemen can be seen any day or evening. The great inducement which is being offered to the ten charter members, of $40 on each scholarship, should prove an incentive to ambitious young people. No commercial school has opened in this vicinity with as good local endorsement as has the Beloit Business College. Its future is bright.

Thomas F. Dermody Funeral

The funeral services of the late Thomas F. Dermody was held this morning at 9:30 o'clock from St. Patrick's church. There was a large attendance of friends and impressive services were conducted by Dean L. McGinnity. The floral tributes were especially beautiful and included a floral harp with the words, "Our Friend," on its face; also a beautiful floral pillow and a crescent. At the conclusion of the services the remains were taken to Rockford, Ill.

Janesville Business College Has Reputation Far Reaching

There are several points worth thinking about for the young man or woman who contemplates preparation for a business career through a commercial or business college. One factor that should be taken seriously into consideration is the chance for employment after the education is complete. The Janesville Business college has been in existence for 17 years and its graduates from every department have been given employment among business houses in this city and the country. The reason is plain. The school has become so well known and its graduates have given such satisfaction that its reputation that its reputation has, extended with each year since it was established.

Supreme Chancellor Fethers Issues Circular Relative to His Death.

An official circular relative to the death of President McKinley has just been issued by Supreme Chancellor Fethers, of the Knights of Pythias. The circular says:

"The assassin's shot which deprived the nation of its chief magistrate and carried a terrible grief to millions of hearts and hearthstones, inflicts peculiarly profound sorrow upon the members of our order. William McKinley was a member in good standing, and his devotion to, and admiration for the tenets we teach was faithful and unflinching."

Gus Griffith is Missing.

Gus Griffith, who has been a tenant on the farm of Lee Walworth of the Town of Fulton is missing from home and his whereabouts can not be ascertained. LAST LINK IN THE ELECTRIC LINE

The Delavan Common Council Grants the Janesville Company a Franchise Through That City.

The common council at Delavan at its meeting last evening passed an ordinance granting a franchise to George J. Hurd of this city to erect, construct and maintain an electric railway in that city and to furnish light, heat and power to the residents and business houses. The franchise is the same as the one granted the Beloit, Delavan Lake and Janesville line by this city. Thomas S. Nolan of this city was present at the council meeting and represented Mr. Hurd.

This last franchise completes the list of towns in which the company has asked for franchises. They now hold franchises from Geneva City, Elkhorn, and Delavan which are all of the towns on the proposed line which will run from this city to Geneva.

The company's engineers will at once begin to survey the proposed line and the securing of the right of way through the country will be taken up as soon as the engineers establish which is the most feasible route.

The line, when built, will be of great value to Janesville giving it a direct line to Delavan, Elkhorn, Geneva without change of cars and at almost any hour of the day. It also gives the people a chance to visit the beautiful summer resorts at Lake Geneva and Delavan Lake and return the same day.

Mr. Hurd is the representative of Philadelphia capitalists who have plenty of money and are ready to take up the construction of the road at once.

CURE FOR ASTHMA.

Discovery of a Leading Physician. Public Tests Will Be Made Tomorrow at Helmstreet's Drug Store.

All day tomorrow free sample packages of the celebrated "Schiffmann Asthma Cure" will be given away at E. B. Helmstreet's Drug Store.

The doctor wants every sufferer from Asthma, Hay Fever, or Bronchitis, in this city to call and get one. When asked regarding his reasons for giving his remedy away in this manner, he said: "People are naturally skeptical about an asthma remedy, and when you consider the number of so-called 'cures' on the market you can hardly blame them. Now I claim that my cure cures. It will instantly relieve the most violent attack. It has permanently cured thousands who had been considered incurable. If I did not believe it why should I be giving it away?" The sufferer who gets a sample package can tell in two minutes whether it is as I represent it and it does not cost him a cent. That is fair, isn't it?"

It certainly does not look as if anything could be fairer. Those living out of town can get a free sample by writing and enclosing a 2c stamp to Dr. Schiffmann, 370 Jackson street, St. Paul, Minn., up to Sept. 23rd; not later.

O'Connor Pays High Tribute. London, Sept. 18.—In tomorrow's issue of M. A. P. (Mainly About People), a weekly society paper, T. P. O'Connor will publish some of the most interesting of his recollections of McKinley at Washington. Mr. O'Connor pays eloquent tribute to the character, abilities and simplicity of the dead president, concluding as follows:

"The career of McKinley was typically American. It is indeed Americanism at its best. Even the murmured words of the church hymn which were among the last things uttered by the dying lips—even that is typically American, too."

PEKIN FINALLY EVACUATED.

Chinese Troops Re-enter and Foreigners Leave Forbidden City.

Pekin, Sept. 18.—The Chinese troops re-entered Pekin today. The Americans and Japanese simultaneously handed over the Forbidden City to the Chinese authorities. The evacuation was picturesque. The Japanese and American troops were drawn up at the inner gate. Several hundred Chinese civil and military officials, in brilliant costumes, diplomats, officers and ladies were massed on the plaza outside. Prince Ching and General Chiang, governor of Pekin, met the Japanese and Americans and thanked them for the protection they had afforded the palace. General Yamani and Major Robertson replied, the Japanese and Chinese bands played, and the foreigners marched out through the gates they had battered in over a year ago. Then the Chinese unfurled their flags and distributed their forces at the various gates. The Chinese officials gave a banquet to the Japanese this evening. The Americans were invited to be present but declined, owing to the death of President McKinley.

Lonely Homes

A home is never complete without children. Yet many homes are childless. Many wives are desolate for the lack of a child to love. Their lives are aimless—void of the high motives of motherhood. While barrenness is causing incalculable sadness and sorrow, it exists in most cases on account of some little female trouble, which Wine of Cardui would speedily set right. This pure Wine regulates the disordered female organs by building up the worn out nerves and restoring the generative organs. It restores the fallen womb to its proper place. By strengthening the generative organs, it makes pregnancy possible where barrenness exists. You can depend on

WINE OF CARDUI

Suffering women all over the land have been depending on it for seventy-five years. No more convincing proof can be given than the testimony of Mrs. Benson, who is only one of thousands of women to whom Wine of Cardui has brought a permanent cure. Many cases of miscarriage—that trouble which robs mothers of their hopes—have been avoided by timely use of the Wine. You are asked to try Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black-Draught, its companion medicine. Nine out of ten cases of female trouble, barrenness included, yield to them. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

Vandervoort, Ark., April 2, 1900.
Last May I had a miscarriage, which was followed by flooding. I read your Almanac and my husband got me a bottle of Wine of Cardui and it stopped my flooding and restored my fallen womb to its place. Now I am cured after taking three bottles and have another to take which I got this morning. I am expecting to become a mother and Wine of Cardui will be my doctor.

Isn't it Worth 25c.
To Be Cured of Constipation

People who suffer from habitual constipation with all its attendant ills, clogged stomach and bowels, sluggish liver, heartburn, indigestion, and thin and impure blood, are too apt to believe that the only remedy is violent purgatives. The contrary is the case. Such cathartics, even if they do move the bowels, are irritating and griping, leave the stomach inflamed and enfeebled and the constipated condition recurs with greater difficulty of cure and the sufferer constantly growing worse. There is a laxative that moves the bowels without pain or griping, cleanses the stomach, sharpens the appetite, stimulates the liver, strengthens the nerves, and purifies the blood, while its marvellous tonic properties tone up the entire system and keep it healthy.

Laxakola Does It

Its remarkable tonic properties reach every organ—the liver, kidney and stomach, nerve, heart and brain—and removes the cause of your debilitated condition. This is the only way to secure an absolute and permanent cure.

Laxakola is the only medicine for babies, is purely vegetable and its action is gentle, speedy and effective. For coated tongue, simple fevers, colic, chills and languid feeling it is the ideal medicine. It tastes good. Children like it and ask for it.

Laxakola, the great tonic laxative, is not only the most efficient of family remedies, but the most economical, because it combines two medicines, viz: laxative and tonic, and at one price. No other remedy gives so much for the money. At druggists, 25c. and 50c., or send for free sample to LAXAKOLA CO., 112 Nassau Street, N. Y., or 215 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

WAR AGAINST "FED" COLONY

Armed Men Compel Anarchist Families to Go.

KUKLUX METHOD IS USED.

Advocates of Czolgosz Creed in Pittsburg and Other Places Warned by Citizens—Arrest in Montreal—Kokomo Burns Czolgosz in Emory.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 18.—Thirty armed men, imitating the movements of the famous kuklux klan, are said to have raided the anarchists of Gurfey Hollow, Westmoreland county, at night and forced twenty-five families to leave town before daylight. The raiders surrounded the houses and terrorized the anarchists by firing repeating rifles and revolvers and yelling like Indians. Finally one of the anarchists, who could speak English, came out under a flag of truce and held a parley with the invaders. The result was that the anarchists agreed to be responsible for the removal of the whole colony. By the terms of the capitulation the foreigners left the vicinity with their wives, children and all their belongings before daybreak.

Union Hill Expels Anarchists. New York, Sept. 18.—Mrs. Quintavalli, wife of the alleged coconspirator of Bresci, King Humbert's murderer, and Charles Martino, were expelled from the town of Union Hill, N. J., by order of Recorder Henzel. The two were charged with threatening Hugh Mullins because he had expressed indignation at the assassination of President McKinley.

Greentown Shows Resentment. Kokomo, Ind., Sept. 18.—Czolgosz was burned in effigy at Greentown last night. Another crowd led by a woman hanged a dummy from the veranda of the residence of Mrs. Fay Byers, accused of clapping her hands and dancing with joy when McKinley died and hoping Roosevelt would meet the same fate. A note pinned on the figure read: "Take warning, Mrs. Byers. If you don't keep your mouth shut about McKinley you will serve you as all such anarchists should be served. If you want the White House blown up and Roosevelt killed, tell it to your kind. We are American citizens. Take warning, for we mean it." The women were for dragging Mrs. Byers from the house and administering a public whipping, but were restrained.

Held Prisoner in Montreal. Montreal, Que., Sept. 18.—The police authorities admit having under arrest an Italian giving his name as Joseph Albert Valentini, and also as Gianni. He has been under arrest since last Thursday. He told the police that he came here to work as a railway laborer, but his general appearance does not bear out the story. He says he came here from Barre, Vt., but cards found on his person bear the address 178 Sullivan street, New York. He was arrested on suspicion of being an anarchist.

Russians in Deep Sympathy. St. Petersburg, Russia, Sept. 18.—A dispatch from Odessa says a feeling of deepest sympathy with Mrs. McKinley and the people of the United States is everywhere manifested.

The Listok declares that "President McKinley fell like a hero at his post. He was the victim of a coward, who, Judas-like, murdered the twice-chosen leader of the people with hand outstretched in friendship."

Still Await Liberty.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—For the third time within five days the nine anarchists accused of conspiring against the life of the late President were brought before Judge Chetlain in the Superior court, and for the third time they were remanded to the jail in the custody of the sheriff. Attorney John F. Geeting, for the defense, asked for a recess. The prosecution, represented by Assistant State's Attorney Barnett and City Prosecutor Taylor, acquiesced, and Judge Chetlain set the time for a hearing next Monday at 10 o'clock.

Doctors Deny Poisoned Bullet. New York, Sept. 18.—Physicians in this city are still much interested in the report of the post-mortem examination made by the doctors who attended President McKinley. Several experts upon gunshot wounds are quoted as to President McKinley's death in the Times.

One of these, Dr. Robert H. M. Daborn, thinks that Czolgosz shot the president with a dirty revolver, and that the bullets fired from such close quarters carried a considerable amount of filth into the wound, poisoning the missile's entire track. He further thinks that ordinary microbes were introduced into the wound and that practically a culture cabinet for such microbes was supplied by the injured tissues.

The result he thinks was the poisoning of the president's flesh through ptomaines and toxins. He doubts that the assassin intentionally poisoned the bullets as has been suggested in some quarters.
